"What the U. S. Navy Means to Me"

Norita Nordhus, St. Benedict high school girl, was announced last week as one of 20 state winners in a national contest sponsored by the Navy League of the United States. Here is her essay, "What the United States Navy Means to Me."

—o—

In order to explain the importance of a Navy I must first of all tell what it is. The Navy does not consist of ships alone. It is the men who man the ships that really constitute the Navy. Ships are merely very effective instruments in the hands of the well trained and experienced men. The innumerable ships which compose a navy belong to several classes—battleships, carriers, cruisers, destroyers and small craft. They are invincible weapons of liberty.

The navy stands as the police of the seas in normal times, but in war it can change the destinies of nations for "Sea power is the key to empire."

While the navy strikes open blows at rare intervals its greatest work is in assisting the armies and air forces. She waits, as a faithful servant, always ready to help wherever needed by cutting off the resources of the enemy while supplying its own, in the form of food, ammunition, supplies, medical and hospital care, and transporting armies. During this last World War, on opposite sides of the world, across two oceans, our Navy opened a highway for both the armies and air forces of the United States.

The Navy was an indispensable aid to conquering our foes, and to enforcing the terms of peace imposed upon our defeated enemies. Now a huge postwar task, that of transporting all of victorious American troops safely to their homeland again, is being so very quickly and successfully done that they really deserve some praise for it.

The United States Navy is said to have had it beginning on October 13, 1775, when Congress appointed a committee to fit out two warships. Esek Hopkins, on February 17, 1776, put to sea with the first organized fleet. The Navy has gradually increased until today the United States Navy is one of the leading navies of the world built up within the short period of only 170 years. The two World Wars aided to a great extent to the expansion of the Navy. Two men closely connected with our Navy are John Barry "the father of the American Navy" and Theodore Roosevelt "the father of our modern Navy." To them goes much credit of the Navy. The most important change of all lies in the fact that while earlier navies have had to operate only on the surface of the sea, the World War I has taught that a modern navy must also navigate the depths below the surface and the heights above.

The Navy of the United States, in relation to the other navies of the world is the largest Navy in the world right now, and it remains to be seen whether or not it will be of benefit to the world.

The Navy should not be considered as a liability as in reality it is an asset to the United States. Calvin Coolidge states that, "All the money that has ever been spent on the Navy has been returned to the community several time over in direct stimulus to industrial development." The Navy trains men in nearly all walks of life, and they in turn help us. Its scientists advance engineering, aviation, navigation, radio communication, and other branches of science. Its medical officers stamp out disease. Marines all over the world use its pilot charts and sailing directions. It brings aid in time of great disasters, determines standard time for the whole community, maps unexplored regions from the air, broadcasts weather reports for aviators, and protects American commerce and citizens in every part of the globe.

Our Navy is now under the process of demobilization after winning for mankind all over the world a new opportunity to live in peace and dignity. The Navy's noblest mission now is the preservation of peace and understanding among the nations of the Earth.

And I as a citizen of the United States, along with every other citizen receive the countless benefits, opportunities and protection which the Navy so graciously grants.

Mrs. Jake Rennenger, Seneca, has been visiting her daughters, Aurelia, Mary and Rosalita in Goff. The girls are employed at the Hanna plant and live in one of Jake Fisher's rental properties. Mrs. Rennenger has been papering and making their home ready for the girls.

On Monday evening the Hanna plant employees planned a surprise party for the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Rennenger of Seneca. It was their 19th birthday. It was a twilight party and about 35 people attended. The evening was spent in playing games and visiting. Ice cream and cake were served to all present.
